

2010 OFFICERS SCHOOL
Green River Firefighters Association
February 19, 20 & 21, 2010
Lexington Convention Center – Lexington KY

17. BECOMING A BETTER COMPANY
OFFICER...A STREET SMART APPROACH

The company officer has been the backbone for effective fireground operations for more than 150 years. The decisions made by these officers and their ability to perform fireground tasks can greatly impact the outcome of the incident and more importantly, the safety and well-being of their crew. This high impact program is designed to enhance the safety and effectiveness of the modern fireground for current and future officers.

This fast paced multi-media presentation will address some of the more common issues facing the fire officer in today's dynamic fireground environment. Topics to be covered in this program include incident size-up, modern building construction and it's flaws, fireground command and control, strategic/tactical concepts and considerations for residential buildings, firefighter safety, RIT operations, response to "routine" emergencies, what was I thinking, and tricks of the trade.

This is a ONE DAY CLASS and will be offered on SATURDAY ONLY

INSTRUCTORS: SCOTT SHAW and TROY WEBSTER

Scott Shaw has been active in the fire/rescue field for more than 20 years. He started as a volunteer firefighter in 1986 and became a paid firefighter in 1992. His past positions include Training Officer, Captain, and Battalion Chief. He is currently employed by the Cincinnati Fire Department and also teaches for SFRT Area 14. Scott has an Associates Degree in Fire Science and a Bachelors of Science Degree in Business Administration. Scott was the developer of Kentucky's Firefighter Survival and Rescue Programs and he has taught at both the Firehouse Expo and the Fire Department Instructors Conference.

Troy Webster has been active in the fire service for over 18 years, serving both in paid and volunteer capacities. Troy currently serves as a Captain with the Florence Fire/EMS Department in Florence, Kentucky. Additionally, Troy is an adjunct instructor for Kentucky State Fire Rescue Training, where he teaches numerous fire/rescue programs throughout the Commonwealth. Troy has earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Fire Protection Administration from Eastern Kentucky University.
